

The Fusilier

Winter 2020

--From the Commander--

Gentlemen,

I hope this note finds you and four families well and wish to extend to you my warmest holiday greetings. Speaking about the holidays, I did not send out Regimental cards this year. I wish I had a better excuse, but the truth is that time got away from me. Dealing with work, managing tele-schooling, and other familial duties, I ran out of time. I sincerely apologize to all of you for this error. I know that many of you look forward to these annual cards, but have no excuse other than the one already described.

Looking forward, next month the British Brigade is holding their annual meeting via the Zoom videoconferencing app. I am representing the 23rd and need your assistance. Brigadier McGaughey is soliciting ideas about event locations for 2021 and forward. If you have any ideas, please e-mail them to me. Keep in mind that he is looking for locations large enough for BB and Continental Line camps with ample logistics support (i.e., water, firewood, straw, hay, etc.).

I am also considering scheduling a command and staff meeting next month to discuss some key concerns of our commanders and to discuss our way forward next year. I will keep everyone posted on developments. In the meantime, please consult with your company officers and NCOs in getting your kit together or for ways to improve it. We are now less than five years out from the start of festivities for the 250th Anniversary of the American War of Independence. Ich Dien!

Sincerely,

Shane
